Can't paste into the main description field. This makes it so much more work that you might as well use a desktop computer. Also no ability to make repeating events. Not bad otherwise.

Wonderful app but could use some refinement. Really needs more notification options other than "first sale". Card reader is effectively useless and a waste of money since it only works on a handful of devices.

It would be better if we can process orders using android phones. Not everyone has ios tho. Haha!

Can check-in people for Pre-Reg, but still can't sell tickets (even if its just for Cash). I wish it had the same functionality as the iOS version. It is really an annoying fact. =/

Permissions issue Why do you need to have access to my contacts and microphone with this update?

Eventbrite October 18, 2016

Hi! For context, we need microphone/audio jack access for our credit card swipers to take payments and contacts permissions for a feature we're building - we'll never use this to message your contacts without your express direction (we're building a tool to promote your event to contacts) I hope this explains our request & sorry for any confusion!

Lacking As a tour guide for a tour company I need to be able to open the app and accept tickets. The check in list used to show a guest list but now it doesn't. I've uninstalled and re-installed the app. It's great for management but not so great for employees. It seems like every incarnation of this app ge...

Hi Laura - You can now access your guest list and check-ins on the Eventbrite App: eventbrite.com/eventbriteapp. You can learn more about the functionality here: <http://help.eventbrite.com/customer/portal/articles/430415-how-to-use-the-eventbrite-android-app>. I hope this helps!

Please fix to display dates/time consistently throughout. Also, have the ability to quick view attendees right from that page. Ability to email or text attendees in c...

New update While its user friendly & nice look, it doesn't provide the numbers of attendees for the events as it did before this update. I'm sorry you're having problems. The "My Events" list should still be showing total tickets sold and available underneath the event date. Email me at tominam@eventbrite.com with more details if it's not working for you.

It's fast once attendees are loaded but has to load attendees each time app is started, which is annoying if multi-taking, such as using square to complete a purchase or add contact info, etc. Also chec...

Easy To Use Clear snapshot of how many attendees have arrived. Would like to be able to set custom number ranges and remove tickets that aren't being tracked from totals. Report functions would be super helpful, along with a mobile interface for event creation.
